

Good progress on hospital project

November 10, 2009

Hospital construction

Good construction progress was evident this week on the new wing for patient rooms at Boone County Health Center. Crews are hoping to have the exterior walls and roof finished before winter weather sets in. This worker was nailing roofing material early this week, and wall framework has been installed on the building's south and east sides.

Written by jdickerson · Filed Under News |