Dear Lowell,

I am writing this letter to express my appreciation for the fine work and support we received from you and the individuals associated with your company. I think it goes without saying that we are extremely satisfied with the way our project came together. When we first met with you, as you may recall, we were experiencing difficulty getting an HVAC project off of the ground due some issues with another company that made promises they did not keep. We then turned to you to pick up where the other company left off and I might add on a fairly short notice. After meeting you and discussing our situation I felt we would be working with an individual and company we could trust and one that would not disappoint us. Not only did you not disappoint us but you exceeded our expectations.

As you know this was not the first construction project I have been involved with over the 33 plus years I have been working in healthcare. I can honestly say that this has been the best experience I have had working with a construction company that was so accommodating and ready and willing to work around our need to continue in operation while the construction was in progress. The communication between your team and ours was fantastic as we were well informed and if we had any questions they were answered in a very timely manner.

Having you and or your staff available to report to our board at the board meetings was of great benefit as it kept our board up to date and they were given the opportunity to ask questions and discuss any concerns they had as we moved through the construction process. I also appreciated the frequent updates and meetings we had on a regular basis that kept me informed of the progress and any changes that were required. I want to thank you personally for your personal attention to our project as well as that of your family members. It is such a joy to work with individuals such as yourself that brings the kind of honesty, integrity and expertise that you do to a multi-million dollar project that is such a large investment in our community and will serve it for years to come.

It has truly been my pleasure working with you and Beckenhauer Construction on our recent project. Please feel free to share this letter as my recommendation for your company. I would be happy to visit with anyone considering a contract with your company. I look forward to working with you on any other projects we might have in the future.

Sincerely,

Fred J. Meis, CEO
