Dear Buster:

My new dental office building was years in the planning. But, when it came to selecting a construction company, it was an easy choice -- Beckenhauer Construction, Inc. After looking around Norfolk at Beckenhauer's, I knew that they would give me a well constructed building.

Beckenhauer's Construction Management Team incorporated my ideas with their expertise to facilitate a master plan that was second to none. Beckenhauer's Team approach with the many subcontractors resulted in a dental office of which I am very proud. The project was completed on time and within the budget guidelines, which we had discussed prior to the start of our office building.

Satisfaction is key as they have been there for me as we continue to practice in our new office. An expansion project was completed several years following the initial construction. An attention to the original look brought a continuity that is undetectable from our original construction detail.

I have recommended Beckenhauer Construction Company to my friends and will continue to in the years to come. Having five generations in the construction industry, I know they will continue to provide a quality product.

Sincerely,

Daniel J. Karmazin, D.D.S.
